

I am very concerned about interference from this system to high frequency radio communications. I believe that with all of the other options available - adoption of this fundamentally flawed system is unnecessary and potentially dangerous if critical existing high frequency radio communications are adversely effected - as they surely will be.